StreetGames launched in 2007 to change lives, change communities and change sport. Today, StreetGames helps over 600 community organisations across the UK to take sport to the doorstep in disadvantaged communities.

StreetGames is the UK’s leading sports charity supporting disadvantaged young people to enjoy sport, become healthier and realise their potential. Young people growing up in disadvantaged communities have energy, talent and a latent desire to improve their lives. They are held back by a lack of opportunities. Doorstep Sport is our method of bringing sport close to home at the right time, the right price, the right place and in the right style. StreetGames is making a huge difference to young people, using the power of sport to get their lives on track. Our success comes from putting young people in the driving seat, using their own talents and capabilities to bring lasting change to their lives and communities.

Deprived communities are seen as difficult, the problems too complex. StreetGames don’t see problems but endless opportunity and potential.

General Information
We have a £20K fundraising target for the evening – this will take 85 disadvantaged young people on a life changing residential. According to UK government figures, about 2.2 million families - about 7m children and parents - don't go on holiday each year, because of poverty. We estimate 1.5m million families cannot even afford a day at the seaside.
